ARBUCKLE

Micheal McShane portrays the silent-screen star Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle in the world premiere of a new work by Cintra Wilson. Photo: Joegh Bullock

Life On The Water presents the world premiere of a new work by Cintra Wilson, considered one of the Bay Area's most promising playwrights. Arbuckle is a one-man show starring Micheal McShane based on the life of silent-screen star Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle.

In 1921, Hollywood films were reaching new heights of popularity, and "Fatty" Arbuckle was one of the most well-loved stars. Second only to Chaplin in worldwide fame, Arbuckle's career included a string of highly successful films and a million-dollar-a-year contract. Today, only a handful of his films remain, and he is remembered primarily as the big star whose career was ruined by his involvement in a sex scandal.

After three lengthy and sensational trials, Arbuckle was found innocent of all charges, but his movie career was over. Because of the accusations in the press (including San Francisco's Hearst newspapers), the newly-formed Hays Commission banned his films. He died ten years later, on the verge of a comeback. He had been unable to regain the prominence he once enjoyed.

The play examines the times, talent and spirit of "Fatty" Arbuckle. Using comedy and monologue, trial transcripts, newspaper articles and music, the show recreates Arbuckle's hilarious skits, and explores his experience of fame and infamy. The play addresses the problems that arise with freedom and censorship, the power of the press, and public perceptions of morality.

Producer John Neal, along with actor McShane, conceived of the work and commissioned Wilson to write the script.

McShane, one of San Francisco's most respected performers, is currently a resident actor at the American Conservatory Theatre. He has received a Dramalogue Award, the Bay Area Critics' Circle Award, and was the first recipient of the prestigious Jules Irving Award.

Wilson (Dognite, Juvee, Bitzy La Fever's Kingdom of Passion, Bay Guardian "Goldie" premiere winner, Bay Area Critics' Circle Award nominee) gives an exciting and thought-provoking perspective on one of the most famous, scandalous, misinterpreted and misunderstood celebrity lives of this century.

In conjunction with the play, the Castro Cinema presents a week-long tribute to the films of "Fatty" Arbuckle, including seldom-seen archival prints, some with live organ accompaniment. The films run from April 22 through 28. For information, call 751-3129.

Arbuckle opens April 25 and runs through May 20 at Life On The Water in Building B. Performances are presented Wednesday through Saturday at 8:30pm, Sunday at 2 and 7pm. Ticket prices: $16-$12, available at the LOTW boxoffice, BASS, and STBS/Union Square, or charge by phone by calling LOTW at 776-8999 (VISA or Mastercard).

KULINTANG ARTS

Kulintang Arts, a music and dance ensemble performing traditional and contemporary works rooted in the ancient percussion of bronze gongs and drums, presents "Lm'Ehek: At the Heart of the Sharpening Stone" at Fort Mason's Cowell Theater, May 3 through 6. The ensemble's 1990 season features a collaboration with Jon Jang and the Pan Asian Arkestra in addition to the premiere of "Marcella's Mother" by choreographer/dancer Anna Sun. Currently recognized as the most advanced Pilipino-American performing ensemble in the United States, Kulintang Arts recently returned from a successful tour of the Philippines, and plans to perform in West Germany this summer.

Performances in the Cowell Theater start at 8pm, Thursday through Sunday. Admission is $12 on Thursday and Sunday, $14 on Friday and Saturday. Tickets are available at STBS/Union Square, or may be charged by phone by calling 552-3656.

For further information about "Lm'Ehek" performances or about Kulintang Arts, call 553-8824.

EMERGING ARTISTS

The Bay Area's largest annual fine arts event offers the opportunity to view and purchase art by some of the region's most talented emerging artists. The Master of Fine Arts Graduate Exhibition of the San Francisco Art Institute serves as a forum for the newest directions in painting, sculpture, printmaking, photography, film and performance video.

Fort Mason Center's Herbst Pavilion, Pier 2, is filled with a body of work by each of 57 graduating MFA students. This year's show includes a suspended installation with school chairs, circular sandbox and performers; an eight-foot Klein bottle made of steel rods that visitors may walk through; a six-by-six-foot grid of brilliantly colored photographs of disabled children, shot with a Diana camera; and a series of life-size diptychs exploring the rhetoric of corporate photography. An exhibition catalog is available for purchase.

The exhibition takes place May 5 through 13, daily from noon to 6pm. Admission is free. An opening reception on Sunday, May 6 from 2 to 5pm features live music and a wine/beer bar.

Founded in 1871, the San Francisco Art Institute is the oldest cultural institution west of the Mississippi. In addition to educating the artists of the future, SFAI presents exhibitions and public programs to students, Friends of the Art Institute, and the general public.

For information about the MFA Graduate Exhibition, or other programs of the San Francisco Art Institute, call 771-7020.

SF MIME TROUPE

Seeing Double - subtitled "A Middle-Eastern Comedy of Error" - is a new musical farce presented by the San Francisco Mime Troupe, tackling the explosive situation in the Middle East in typical style.

Two young Americans - one Jewish, the other Palestinian - are traveling to the Israeli-occupied West Bank. Following a plane crash, a mix-up in identity papers, and amnesia, they find themselves standing in one another's shoes.

Further complications include two sets of excitable relatives comprising Leftists, Rightists, and religious fundamentalists on both sides, and an uncanny resemblance between the two young men, leading to a nonstop farce of mistaken identity with a surprise ending.

An original musical score, the company's skilled ensemble acting, and lightning-quick costume changes all contribute to the show's sardonically comic angle from which to view the fratricidal conflict in the Middle East. Seeing Double reveals both the potential for tragedy and the grounds for hope in the Israeli/Palestinian situation.

The show takes place Saturday, May 19 at 8pm in the Cowell Theater, Pier 2. Tickets are $10 advance, $12 at the door, $6 for children, students and seniors. For information, call 285-1720.
